FOUND OUT AT LAST.

Joseph Donjon Locked Up in Jail at Washington.

HE VOLUNTARILY SURRENDERS.

He Is the Man That Has Been Sending Threatening Letters to a Number of Prominent Public Men, Including the President—An Explanation Which Is Not Believed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Joseph Donjon, the man who has been writing threatening letters to a number of prominent public men during the last two weeks, is in jail here. He walked into the detective bureau of James A. McDevitt yesterday afternoon, asking for food. The doctor took him into a coffeehouse and had something prepared for him to eat. Meantime he questioned him and learned enough to fix his identity. He started toward the stationhouse with his man, and on the way met Detective Ned Weedon and George Boyd, in whose hands he placed him.

It will be remembered that a letter from this man to Senator Mills a few days ago caused the Senator's son, Charles H. Mills, to secure leave from the authorities to go armed for the protection of his father. This was the cause of bringing the man's acts more prominent before the public. For several months past he has been writing similar letters to a number of prominent public men, among whom were Vice President Stevenson, Senator Gorman, Senator Mills, Senator Sherman and, as the man himself claims, President Cleveland and Secretary of War Lamont.

As long ago as during the fight over the silver question in the senate Vice President Stevenson received letters almost daily from Donjon, who was then in Newark, N. J. No attention was paid to them and they were consigned to the waste basket as fast as they arrived. The vice president yesterday received one which was dated from 304 Leigh street, this city.

A number of reporters were at the First precinct police station to see the man, and he talked very freely to all of them. He is 28 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighs 180 or 190 pounds, is dark and sallow, has a greasy complexion, small dark mustache and a rather slouchy look about him. He has the drooping eye lids which usually accompany a brooding and melancholy disposition. The man's manner of relating his story gives ample evidence that he does not belie his appearance in this respect. He talks very rationally and with a rather studied effort, to avoid any appearance of bitterness of the expression of any anarchistic views.

Donjon is an Australian by birth, and lays stress upon the assertion that he is a Catholic, and professes a decree of piety. His story is that he came to this country when he was 15 years old, and had been a telegraph operator in the old country. He manifested considerable pride in his nationality, but denies with a spirit the public statement that he is a "Pollock." He gave up telegraphing when he came to this country, because there was some slight difference in the instruments and in the alphabet. "Under those circumstances," he continued, "if I had secured a job they would have sent me to some remote office in the far west where there are coyotes and cougars and other dangerous creatures."

He became a bench moulder after he came here and claims to have worked for a time at Salem, O., as well as in the wiremills at Johnstown at the time of the great flood there, but was in Pittsburgh on that particular occasion. Later, with his father and mother and brother, he went to Newark, N. J., and last May, having been longer out of employment, went west to Washington and Idaho and prospected for gold there.

He tells a rather fearful tale of the dangers he encountered from rough miners in that country, and says that no man who was not willing to spend his earnings in drunkenness and debauchery was permitted to stay there.

He went back to Newark, and claims to have been endeavoring to secure work there ever since. He says he lived with his father and mother and brother at 128 Burnett street. This agrees with the address of the earlier letters received from him here. He claims that his father and brother went to Florida to take up lands, but that he did not think it was worth while to go, as he could get nothing to do anywhere.

With considerable emphasis he denied that he is an anarchist or socialist, or ever attended any meetings of those bodies, but contends that he was prevented from securing employment because he was not a member of the Knights of Labor or any other labor union.

As to the letters he has been writing he claims that he was incited to write them by other people, receiving $100 for doing it. Asked as to the character of the persons who did this, he disclaimed that they were anarchists or that they formed any association. They were merely private persons.

He also denies that there were any threats in the letters he had written or any reference whatever to dynamite. "I never saw dynamite and would not know how to use it," he said. When asked what right he had to compose such letters at the bidding of other people he simply inquired: "What right have you to write down what I am telling you? It was simply a business I went into to make a living, just as you write news for the newspapers."

He claimed that all that was contained in any of the letters was a proposition to each of the men addressed to forward him the cost of transportation to Washington and an offer to come on there and make a business proposition to them. This was after he found that there was no work to be had and he intimates that he had a plan to better affairs. As to what this plan is, he declines to say anything, but will probably make a statement of it later at his trial.

The man came to Washington Saturday from Baltimore. That night he applied at the police station for lodgings, and the officer in charge directed him to the municipal lodging house, next door to the station house, where he slept that night and saw wood next morning to pay for his lodging. With reference to this, Donjon is very earnest in his assertion that it is the first time he ever slept in such a place.

The Washington police had no description of the man at that time in their possession.

Sunday he fell in with a German on a bench in one of the public parks in this city. The man was drunk, but spoke some words of encouragement to him and told him that he was out of work, but gave him a quarter and hoped that he might soon find something to do. He thought the best thing he could do with the quarter was to get some postal cards and make another effort to secure answers from them to whom he had been sending. He took lodgings at 304 Tenth street in this city and slept there that night. This is the address on the postal card received from him yesterday.

His story is that he waited about this place all day waiting for some one to appear in reply to his postal cards, but that no one came. He then determined, he says, to start out to look for Chief Drummond. He was very much disturbed and astonished at the character of the publications in the newspapers regarding the letters he wrote from Baltimore last week, but wanted to see the authorities and set himself right. With this in mind, he stopped at the detective office of James A. McDevitt. He knew perfectly well that he would be arrested when he gave himself up to the authorities, but this did not seem to disturb him.

The man speaks very good English, but with a very strong German accent. He is evidently well educated and says he has spent much time in reading scientific works on electricity and chemistry and kindred topics. In reply to a question, he said he had also read works on political economy and social science, but hastened to add that they were not such as were given out by the socialists and anarchists associations in New York city.

The police officials say that his hearing will be delayed several days. The letters from him, which they have in their possession, do not contain threats of a character that would be likely to make a case against him on that charge. It is believed, however, that threatening letters can be secured from among the earlier ones he sent if any of them have been preserved. If they have not it may be necessary to proceed against him on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

The man tells a connected story, but the police put no faith in his assertion that he was incited to write the letters by other persons.

STEAMER ON FIRE AT SEA.

It Had to Be Sunk Before Reaching a Port—No Lives Lost.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Commodore Hughes, of the firm of James E. Ward & Co., was seen in reference to the report that the steamer Seneca, of the Ward line, had put back to Havana yesterday morning with a fire in her hold. Commodore Hughes stated that a cable dispatch had been received by the firm which conveyed the information that the Seneca had caught fire in the lower hold just after leaving Havana.

She was about 75 miles from port when the crew was startled by an explosion. When they reached the deck the ship was in flames and the cry went up that a dynamite bomb had exploded. Immediately the wheel was put to starboard and the vessel put back to port. Then, having become exhausted, they appealed to Captain Stevens and asked him to abandon the ship.

According to the cable he stood on the bridge and commanded them to return to their duty. Twice this action of the crew was repeated before the steamer made the 70 miles which brought them back to the island.

The rigging was then ablaze and the efforts of the crew having been unsuccessful in subduing the flames the order was given by Captain Stevens to sink her. The seacocks were opened and the vessel filled in a short time.

She lies, so far as the information of the agents of the Ward line goes, at the bottom of the bay near Havana.

The cable says that the crew and passengers are all safe on shore.

Commodore Hughes says that he believes the vessel to be in a position where she can be raised without much trouble or expense.

Starvation, Abuse and Neglect.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—A woman named Burke was found last night in a hotel on East street, Allegheny, dying from starvation, abuse and neglect. She has been unconscious for two days and the physicians say she can not recover. Her husband was lying beside her in the bed intoxicated. From bruises on her face and body it is supposed that he had beaten her. He was arrested and is now in the Central station. It is said that the woman has been sick for sometime and has not had food for several days. She was removed to the Allegheny general hospital.

The New York Goes to Rio Janeiro.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—There is no doubt now as to the destination of the crack cruiser New York. She will sail from the Brooklyn navy yard within a few hours and with the exception of a short stay somewhere near Gravesend bay or Sandy Hook to take a pilot on board, she will go direct south.

Captain Philip refused to say where the cruiser was bound for. A notice which was posted in a prominent place in the officers' quarters indicated very clearly that the ship was bound for Rio Janeiro.

DEATH OF CHAUNCEY H. ANDREWS.

He Was a Millionaire Railroad Operator and the Father of Mrs. John A. Logan.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 26.—Chauncey H. Andrews, the millionaire railroad operator and coal and iron manufacturer, died yesterday, aged 70. He leaves a widow and two daughters—Mrs. John A. Logan, Jr., and Mrs. Leslie C. Bruce of New York.

Mr. Andrews was the pioneer in coal operations in the Mahoning valley and amassed a large fortune. He was largely interested in the iron industries and built the Pittsburg and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Toledo, Niles and New Lisbon railroads and several other lines. He had been dangerously ill for some time and his death was not unexpected.

Chauncey H. Andrews was born in Vienna, Trumbull county, O., Dec. 2, 1823. His parents were poor and he was early thrown on his own resources. He worked for sometime for his father in an old-time country hotel, but tiring of this, engaged in country storekeeping and failed sometime before the war. With small savings he opened a coal mine near this city. The venture proved profitable, and with the means obtained there he opened other mines, and after the war engaged extensively in the iron business.

He made money rapidly, and reinvested it as rapidly as made. Finally he commenced railroad building. He was one of the leading spirits in projecting and building the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad and the road from here to Andover.

In company with Gould and Fiske he built the Niles and New Lisbon railroad and subsequently the line from New Castle to Akron, now absorbed by the Baltimore and Ohio. Mr. Andrews leaves a widow and two daughters, one the wife of John A. Logan, Jr., and the other the wife of L. C. Bruce, proprietor of the well-known sporting paper, Turf-Field and Farm. Wallace Andrews, a brother in New York, and two sisters here survive him. He died several times a millionaire.

Mrs. Logan, wife of the General, was a constant attendant at his bedside until he died. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m.

EXPRESS MESSENGER ROBBED.

Knocked Down By a Negro and a Package of Money Stolen.

MARSHALL, Tex., Dec. 26.—As Express Messenger A. F. McCulloch and F. Near dall were transferring their business from the Texas and Pacific passenger train to the New Orleans Pacific train at 3 o'clock in the morning, McCulloch was knocked down by a negro, who snatched a pouch from him and ran. Near dall fired one shot at the robber as he fled, but failed to stop him. He was pursued by officers as quickly as they could be notified, but made his escape.

The robbery was committed on the depot platform, under the glow of electric lights, while there were probably 100 people standing around. Parties who saw the robbery differ as to the identity of the man, the majority saying he was a very light mulatto, while others assert he was a white man. The express people do not tell the amount secured, but it is estimated at some $5,000 to $8,000.

JUSTIFIABLE MURDER.

An Old Planter Attacked By Two Brothers Defends Himself With His Gun.

COTTON PLANT, Ark., Dec. 26.—Howell Station, a small town in Woodruff county, eight miles north of this city, was the scene of a homicide. W. B. Rosser, an old citizen and well-to-do planter of Rosser Station, two miles south of Howell, was attacked by William and John McLean, two brothers, who had sworn to kill him.

William McLean advanced with a dirk-knife when Rosser shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. He then turned upon John McLean and fired one shot, which tore off the side of his face. John ran and Rosser left. He is supposed to be with friends and will give himself up, as he appears to be thoroughly justified.

RUSSIA'S TARIFF.

It Has Been Lowered by a Commercial Treaty With Germany.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Dispatches to the Exchange and the Pall Mall Gazette from St. Petersburg confirm the report that a Russo-German commercial agreement has been entered into. By the terms of the agreement Germany lowers her duty on Russian rye and oats to the level of the Austro-German tariff, while Russia reduces her tariff of 1891 on German iron, tin, machinery and agrarian implements from 10 to 20 per cent.

Russia also reduces her tariff on land-borne coal to the level of the tariff on sea-borne coal. The tariff on iron and steel rails is unchanged. The German duties on grain, other than rye and oats, have not been decided upon. A settlement of the whole question is nevertheless likely.

Fire in Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 26.—About 11 p. m. last night fire broke out in a large one-story structure fronting on Twentieth street and the railroad track, and for a while it looked as if the entire block would burn. Hard work and continuous streams of water kept the devastating element from total destruction. The building was used by Summons, Durham & Co. as a cotton warehouse, and by the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company, two clothing establishments and two Italian restaurants. In the cotton warehouse were about 35 bales of cotton, which were consumed. The estimated loss will reach $50,000; insurance about $20,000.

General Sprague Dead.

PORLAND, Ore., Dec. 26.—General John Sprague, a prominent citizen and veteran of the civil war, died at his home in this city last night.

SAN FRANCISCO FIRE.

Half a Million Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—A fire broke out in the block bounded by Clay, Commercial, Sansome and Leidesdorff streets and in a few minutes one of the biggest fires of the year was raging. The block is composed of some of the oldest brick buildings in the city and was occupied by The Call and Bulletin newspaper offices; Francis, Valentine & Co., printers; the Bosqui Printing and Engraving company; Blake, Moffit & Towne's paper warehouse; E. J. Shattuck & Co., ink manufacturers; the Commercial Steam Power company, and numerous smaller concerns. Every engine in the city was called out and it was over two hours before the fire was out.

A large portion of the block was totally destroyed. The Bulletin's editorial and composing rooms are a complete wreck and The Call's presses were injured by water, but the fire will not interfere with the publication of the papers.

It is estimated that the damage will reach half a million. The principal losses are Valentine & Co., printers, loss $100,000, insured $25,000; E. J. Shattuck & Co., ink manufacturers, loss $40,000; Bonqui Engraving Company, loss $35,000, insured $7,000; Blake, Moffit & Towne, paper dealers, loss $50,000, insurance $40,000; Union Advertising Company, loss $10,000; Call and Bulletin, loss $10,000, fully insured; Loss on buildings, $100,000. There are a large number of minor losses, which bring the total up to nearly half a million.

STOCK STABLES BURNED.

Twenty-two Valuable Horses Perished in the Flames.

KITTANNING, Pa., Dec. 26.—Fire destroyed the stables on the Keystone stock farm owned by Bowser Bros., of Manor township. Twenty-two horses were cremated, some of which were the finest stock in western Pennsylvania. The following horses were among those lost: Chambrina, 2:28 1:4; Montaigne, 2:27 1:4; Juanita, 2:29 1:4; Halleck, half mile, 1:19; Ozelia and Mayor Mont, J. G. Wilkes and Jay Gee, belonging to Major J. G. Beale of Leechburg, were also burned. All the others were blooded stock and were being developed for a million.

The fire occurred about 5 o'clock in the morning, and had gained such headway that nothing could be saved. Two men were sleeping in the building. One escaped only by jumping out of a window. The other man, Harvey Hartman, ran out of the door, but was badly burned in doing so.

The only theory as to the origin is that it was set on fire. Tracks of two men were followed through a field and around a barn. Who they were is not known. There was no heating apparatus in the building. The loss is very heavy.

AN OLD GRUDGE.

Two Men Went to a Dance to Raise Trouble and Succeeded.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ills., Dec. 26.—At a dance at Rock Creek, near here, last night, Dave Evans and John Howell appeared for the purpose, as they said, of raising a disturbance and "doing up" George Barnard. They found Barnard and drew their revolvers, but Barnard was too quick for Evans, the spokesman, and sent a ball crashing through his mouth.

Barnard's revolver only contained two cartridges and after firing the second shot he was at the mercy of his assailants, who emptied their revolvers at him. Howell following him up and shooting him until he fell dead. Frank Ledbetter, a bystander, was shot in the thigh. Four bullets took effect in Barnard's body. Howell gave himself up and Evans walked to a house near by, where he lies in a critical condition. An old grudge is at the bottom of the affair, occasioned by trouble over a woman.

MRS. HARRIET HAYDEN DEAD.

She Had Been Prominent in the Anti-Slavery Movement.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Harriet Hayden, widow of Lewis Hayden, died yesterday at her home 64 Phillips street of an attack of pneumonia at the age of 74. Mrs. Hayden had a remarkable history. Born a slave in Kentucky she made her escape early in the forties into Michigan and lived for a short time in the city of Detroit. From that city she moved to Boston and became identified with the anti-slavery movement and her house on Phillips street became a rendezvous for fugitive slaves.

John Brown held a meeting at her house with some of his associates prior to his departure for Harper's Ferry, and perfected some of his plans there. Mrs. Hayden was a warm personal friend of William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Charles Sumner and, in fact, all of the members of the anti-slavery society held her and her husband in the highest esteem.

Investigating Into a Murder.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Dec. 26.—The coroner's investigation into the killing of Hon. W. C. Hultz proceeds slow, the evidence being all taken down in manuscript and signed by the witnesses. The disguise worn by the assassin was thrown into a pond and has been secured, also the gun. One witness has sworn that he recognized the murderer as he fled from the scene as Ex-Sheriff Willis. The assassin is in jail, but refuses to talk. His preliminary examination is fixed for Thursday. Considerable excitement still prevails, but there is no talk of any violence.

Self-respecting citizens who have faith that public opinion through the open free channels of public discussion is capable of solving every political or social question in this country can lend no countenance to the A. P. A. or any such conspiracy.—Philadelphia Record.

The Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company of Scranton, Pa., resumed operations last week on double turn for an indefinite period. They employ 1,500 hands. The iron and steel makers don't appear to be paying much attention to the Republican editors who are prophesying that the Wilson bill will bring disaster to the country.

J. K. ARMSTRONG, the embezzling Treasurer of Tipton County, Indiana, in whose books a shortage of $30,000 was recently discovered, was found guilty and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. Justice is very blind undoubtedly on many occasions these days. Out in Nebraska last week an unfortunate was sent up for life for stealing a copper cent. He robbed a mail-carrier.

THE whisky distillers and the whisky brokers are "all broke up" over Secretary Carlisle's recommendation of an increase of 10 cents a gallon in the tax on spirits, not that they are exactly opposed to an increase, but they had never dreamed that he would recommend an increase in the tax on the whisky in bond. They had figured that any increase of taxation would benefit them by increasing the value of every gallon of spirits in bond, every cent of an advance being reckoned as clear profit. There are now about 80,000,000 gallons of whisky in bond. The Secretary's recommendation makes the owner pay the increase instead of gaining it, if they take the whisky out of bond after the law takes effect. The feelings of the dealers can well be imagined. This recommendation, should it be adopted, will put $8,000,000 into the Treasury instead of the pockets of the distillers and holders.

HIT 'EM AGAIN, EYELAR.

"Those opposed to an income tax," says the Georgetown, O., News-Democrat, "are trotting out the moth-eaten opinions of Alexander Hamilton against it. Certainly, Hamilton urged that only rich men be permitted to vote, or, as he put it, 'those who paid.' Of course it is wrong to ask the curled darlings of wealth to pay a tax on incomes over and above $5,000 per year, and Alexander Hamilton, of all men, is just the man to quote against a proposition to tax the increment of wealth. He was an arrogant, foreign-born aristocrat, a fop in dress, whose lines of political action were laid upon the expressed belief that men are only controlled by two powers, 'force and corruption'—that when you can't drive a man you can't bribe him. No true American ever quotes Alexander Hamilton or accepts him as a model, in politics or morals."

THE TARIFF IN ENGLAND.

"In England, at one time, the right to lay a tariff on certain articles" says the Georgetown (O.) News-Democrat, "was sold to families, who adjusted the tax as their necessities and extravagance demanded. This tax grew so burthenous that it nearly provoked revolution, and what is now known as the 'American system' supplanted it and remained in force until 1844 when the English people threw off the shackles and became free traders. We don't quite sell the privilege of taxation to families, under the McKinley bill, but we come very near it. We at least take the benefits arising from taxation from the government and bestow them upon corporations, which is virtually the same thing as the old English system of allowing families to tax articles of necessity and put the revenues arising therefrom into their own pockets."

PRAISE FROM THE ENEMY.

The Buffalo Commercial, a staunch Republican paper, makes the following just comment on the President's Hawaiian policy:

"The Commercial believes that this is a matter to be discussed on its merits, as a national, not a party, question. It is sure the President's refusal to encourage the annexation movement will command the approval of most thinking men, and that his treatment of this difficulty is, on the whole, calculated to raise the United States in the good opinion of mankind. So far as we can see he has tried to do right."

As the Lexington Transcript remarks, "it is refreshing to see that there are at least a few Republican journals that can treat great public questions with impartiality and without playing the demagogue."

THE FINEST TRAIN IN AMERICA

Is Conceded to be the Southwestern Limited Via Big Four Route to New York.

This magnificent Wagner train has been built especially for service between Cincinnati, New York and Boston, running through solid to these cities without change of cars. ### Cutting Scrape in Lewis.

At a dance at Clarksburg, Lewis County, Friday night, James Hunsuch and Ves Cooper began a friendly scuffle near the front doorway. Cooper slightly hurt Hunsuch, and this irritated him to such a degree that he struck Cooper in the left eye. The latter responded promptly, and Hunsuch then drew a long, keen knife and attacked Cooper. One cut slashed into the right thigh, severing an artery and striking the bone. The next cut entered the left side of the chest, just above the heart. Hunsuch has always been regarded as a desperado man. Whisky and women doubtless explain the cause of the affair. Cooper's wounds are dangerous but not necessarily fatal.

A MERRY XMAS PARTY.

Miss Lyda Rogers Entertains at the Home of Her Mother, Mrs. James H. Rogers.

Last night, at the residence of her mother, Mrs. James H. Rogers, Miss Lyda was the gracious and charming hostess at a dancing party given her by her uncle, Mr. Frank Clarke, as a Christmas present. How lasting it will be on memory's pages! How great was the gift when so many were made happy.

The interior of the house was prettily decorated with cedar, holly and mistletoe, while from every vantage ground chrysanthemums gave variety and beauty to the lovely greens. Venie furnished music, to which the young people danced the hours away.

Miss Rogers wore a beautiful toilet of flowered silk, and in her self-possessed and pleasant manner put all her guests at once at ease. It was a happy time, indeed, and it is the writer's wish that Xmas may always have this bright picture for these our coming men and women. Delicious refreshments were served, while during the evening a large bowl of lemonade refreshed the dancers. Among the guests were:

COLORADO'S LEGISLATURE.

It Has Been Called to Assemble in Special Session.

DENVER, Dec. 26.—Governor Waite last night issued the long-talked of call for a special session of the legislature to meet Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1884. The call consists of about 5,000 words and mentions over 30 subjects on which legislative action should be taken in the governor's opinion.

The governor justifies his proclamation by declaring that "the mining interests of the state has been unjustly and unconstitutionally attacked by congress and the present administration; that the panic has so reduced values and increased burdens of taxation that agriculturists, fruit growers and stock raisers are obliged to sell their products below the cost of producing them, and that the extraordinary remedies now granted to creditors in Colorado should be repealed."

"Appealing to Almighty God for the rectitude of my intentions and willing to assume the entire responsibility of the act," the governor solemnly declares, "I do issue this my proclamation."

The first "business" for the legislature suggested in the call is to provide that all silver dollars, domestic and foreign, containing not less than 851 1/4 grains of fine silver, shall be legal tender for all debts collectible in Colorado.

The Governor also suggests the passage of an act forbidding the making of trust deeds, mortgages or obligations of any kind payable in gold, laws providing for the issuance of certificates of small denominations in payment for work on state canals, said certificates to be receivable for water carriage and leasing or purchase of internal improvement lands and to be convertible after three years into $100 certificates, repeal of all laws authorizing the issuance of municipal bonds and the enactment of a law to provide for the issuance of certificates of small denominations in payment for work on public improvements. The Governor also suggests many subjects of legislation affecting various local interests in the state.

DOINGS OF TRAMPS.

Depredations Reported From All Parts of Kansas.

TOPEKA, Dec. 26.—Reports of depredations committed by tramps continue to come in from all parts of the state. Along the eastern and southern border they are thick and generally travel in gangs of a half dozen. Railroad officials state that their freight crews have a great deal of trouble with them, and in many instances are threatened with assault if they insist on their leaving the trains.

They are crowding into the larger towns of the state, where they say they will have the protection of the police under the governor's order. Every day a number of tramps call at Governor Lewelling's office and beg for money with which to buy something to eat.

The governor has found this such a burden that he is compelled to refuse further aid to them. Sunday night several tramps broke into the Methodist church and took a big supply of eatables which the ladies of the church had prepared for the children.

Perished in the Storm.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Dec. 26.—Charles Koch, a farmer living 10 miles south of Niagara, left Larimore on Sunday, the 17th, on foot for home. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.—H. Ray Shubert, the 11-year-old son of the foreman of the New Orleans and Southern railroad, was blown to pieces by dynamite at the Bellair plantation below the city. By the side of the railroad were several boxes, contents unknown, left there by mistake by the railroad two weeks ago. Young Shubert, who was hunting, sat himself upon one of the boxes to fix his shoes. The next moment there was an explosion which could be heard miles around and the boy was blown to pieces. Investigation showed that the boxes contained a large quantity of dynamite.

KANSAS CITY COMES FIRST.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 26.—At a meeting of the board of education yesterday the offer of the secretary of war in his annual report issued two weeks ago to furnish the public schools of the country a military attaché who will instruct the scholars in military tactics and drills, thus placing them on a par with the universities and colleges, was accepted. The Italians, after following the Dervishes for some distance, were recalled.

SHOCK FOR TWENTY SECONDS.

BEDFORD, Pa., Dec. 26.—Reports from various parts of this county indicate that Sunday's earthquake lasted 18 or 20 seconds. In many places houses were shaken to such an extent as to seriously alarm the inmates. The shock appears to have traveled in a southeasterly direction and was the most perceptible to those persons who live near the mountains.
